Gilt Week Ahead

5 October 2020, Tim Davis

Brexit talks will continue this week (and probably the next few weeks too) after Boris Johnson's meeting with Ursula von der Leyen confirmed that progress had been made but that there was still work to do. There was no mention of Johnson's previous deadline of an agreement by the European Summit of 15 October with talks now expected to drag on to around the end of the month. This would still give time for a deal to be ratified but any further delays and it will be difficult for the agreement to be passed before the end of the transition period which is scheduled to end on 31 December.

We will see the final services PMI print released today (but only small revisions are expected). The main data release of the week comes on Friday with the monthly GDP print and its constituent components for August – index of services, industrial production, construction and trade. There is a broad array of expectations for where the numbers will come in with most economists expecting the monthly GDP print to come in somewhere in the range of 3-6%M/M.

The week ahead will see the Summary and Record of last week's FPC meeting released on Thursday (unlikely to be market moving) with speeches scheduled from Bailey (also Thursday) and two from Haldane (Monday and Friday). MPC members have been downplaying the immediacy of negative rates in recent comments and there is unlikely to be much of a change in tone from either Bailey or Haldane this week.

Supply Previews

New 0.125% Jan-24 auction

Issuance for the week will kick off with the launch of the new 0.125% Jan-24 gilt which will be on offer for GBP3.25bln. This follows what is expected to be the last auction of the 0.125% Jan-23 gilt last week – a gilt which was only launched in April but has grown to be the gilt with the largest holdings in private hands (GBP33.8bln). We note that the 0.125% Jan-23 gilt was never eligible for purchases through the BOE's APF programme due to its maturity of under three years. This will not be the case for the new 0.125% Jan-24 gilt for the next few months, although we note that the gilt will only become eligible for BOE purchases when over GBP4bln has been issued. For the gilt to be eligible following this week's auction, almost the entire PAOF amount would need to be taken up. Demand for the 0.125% Jan-23 gilt has been strong with the last three auctions seeing bid-to-cover ratios in excess of 2.5x and tails of 0.2-0.4bp. We expect very strong demand for the new 0.125% Jan-24 gilt too with perhaps a bid-to-cover ratio around 3x but there could potentially be a slightly wider tail than recent 0.125% Jan-23 auctions given that this is the launch. The 0.125% Jan-24 gilt is due to be sold again in three weeks on 27 October and then another three weeks later on 17 November.

1.75% Jan-49 auction

The 1.75% Jan-49 gilt will also be on offer on Tuesday for GBP2.0bln. This will be the first auction of the gilt since May, with issuance in the 30-year area having been dominated by the 0.625% Oct-50 gilt ever since its syndicated launch in June. After a very successful syndicated launch with GBP9.0bln sold, the 0.625% Oct-50 gilt saw a couple of fairly weak auctions with tails of over 1bp, although the previous two auctions with slightly smaller sizes of GBP2.00bln instead of GBP2.25bln has seen more respective tails of 0.5bp and 0.3bp respectively. The 1.75% Jan-49 gilt has traded at a fairly consistent premium of about 1.0-1.3bp to the 0.625% Oct-50 gilt since the beginning of September.

0.375% Oct-30 auction

GBP2.5bln of the 0.375% Oct-30 gilt will be available on Wednesday. This will be the seventh auction of the gilt for which demand for the gilt has remained strong. There has been no auction so far with a tail of more than 0.3bp with bid-to-covers ranging from 2.41-2.96x with the strongest 2.96x seen at the previous auction three weeks ago. The 0.375% Oct-30 gilt is due to be sold again on 28 October before the new Jul-31 gilt is scheduled to be launched on 12 November.

0.125% Aug-41 index-linked auction

Issuance for the week will conclude on Wednesday with GBP750mln nominal of the 0.125% Aug-41 linker on offer. This will be the second auction of the index-linked gilt this fiscal year with the previous auction on 10 July being for the larger size of GBP900mln but still seeing decent demand with a bid-to-cover of 2.19x. Indeed, demand for linkers in general has remained robust at auctions with only two auctions since April 2017 seeing a bid-to-cover of below 2x (in April 2017 and June 2019). We expect another strong auction this week.
